

Waiver and Authorization

The user of this site and the tools thereon recognizes that Restorative Health and its affiliates take privacy and protection of HIPAA regulated and controlled information seriously. Restorative Health uses recognized security measures to protect the information of its patients, customers, subscribers, employees, owners, vendors, and agents.

By using the tools on this site the user gives express authorization for Restorative Health, its vendors, and its contractors authorization to view limited medical history and personally identifiable information that might be necessary to process the forms and provide relevant information.

This authorization covers the limited disclosure of the information submitted on the forms thereon for the purpose of understanding the information communicated by the individual listed by employees, agents, and contractors of Restorative Health and forwarding that information to the relevant business entity within Restorative Health.

The Restorative Health "Online Hormone Test" is used to provide relevant information and submission thereof is understood as a request for information regarding the services offered by Restorative Health. Users of this site and its tools are understood to have voluntarily and willingly waived applicable protections and indemnify Restorative Health from the accidental disclosure thereof during normal business operations.

Users of tools on this site understand that the majority of claims and portals on this site are marketing tools and are not designed to dispense medical treatment or advice. Treatment services are limited by Restorative Health and applicable laws to be carried out solely by licensed providers and practitioners.

Restorative Health will accept a withdrawal of consent and authorization by any legal means or method of communication.

Questions should be forwarded to chris@restorative-health.com